DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Figure 3 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.
2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the functional members fitting to the inner door panel (claim 2) must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

3. The drawings are objected to because the cross hatchings of the door trim, the inner door panel and the window use the cross hatchings of metal. The drawings should be corrected to use the appropriate cross hatchings for the appropriate materials. A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-6 and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gonas (US Patent 5,700,050).

Gonas discloses a door trim structure for automobiles, which is made of a thermoplastic resin and of which the inner door panel (41d) and the door trim (40) are integrally blow molded (Figures 7-9).

Regarding claim 2, Gonas discloses the door trim structure for automobiles as claimed in claim 1, wherein the inner door panel has the function of fitting functional members (76) thereto. Gonas does not disclose that other functional members are attached to the inner door panel. However, Gonas discloses the structure of this application which is capable of supporting other functional members.

Regarding claims 3 and 8, Gonas discloses the door trim structure for automobiles as claimed in claims 1 and 2, wherein the inner door panel (41d) also acts as a shock absorber (72d, 62d).

Regarding claims 4 and 9, Gonas discloses the door trim structure for automobiles as claimed in claims 3 and 8, wherein the inner door panel acting also as a shock absorber is so formed that it has a plurality of recesses (72d) on its surface.

Regarding claims 5 and 10, Gonas discloses the door trim structure for automobiles as claimed in claims 4 and 9, wherein the recessed inner door panel is sealed with the door trim (20).

Regarding claim 6, Gonas discloses the door trim structure for automobiles as claimed in claim 1, wherein the thermoplastic resin is a polypropylene resin (column 4, line 50).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gonas.

Gonas does not disclose what the melt index of the polypropylene resin is. However, the melt index would have been an obvious mechanical expedient. The polypropylene resin would have been selected by one of ordinary skill in the art to meet all of the engineering requirements, such as strength and compatibility with the blow molding machine.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Beaulat, Grimes, Presto, Kobrehel, and Finch et al. discloses door trim structures in which the door trim and the inner panel are made of thermoplastic materials .
